In addition, licensed home providers are required to complete at least 15 hours of training a year with at least 3 hours in Social Emotional Health Development. Other training competencies include child growth and development and learning; child observation and assessment; family and community practices; professional practices; health, safety and nutrition; and teaching practices.

The Large Family Child Care Home license, 3 under 18 months license, Infant/Toddler license, and Experienced Family Child Care license all have additional training and workforce experience qualifications and requirements. The 3 under 18 months, infant/toddler, and experienced license all require the completion of Expanding Quality in Infant Toddler (EQIT) course or the equivalent college course.

Licensed programs are also inspected no less than once a year to assure child care licensing and health and safety standards are being met and all household members have required health evaluations, and residents 18 years and older have cleared an FBI/CBI background check and TRAILS Abuse/Neglect background check.

Programs who participate in the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) must complete at least 1 hour of nutrition training plus meet other participation guidelines and have three CACFP visits a year.

Programs who participate as a Universal Preschool Colorado provider will have to meet other proposed training, assessment and reporting requirements each year.
